

HELLO! WE ARE IAN & MASA

building family through culture and love

We are very excited to be beginning our journey towards expanding our family. Throughout our relationship, we knew that we wanted to become parents; to have children that we can share our lives and explore the world with. We have a lot of love to give and becoming fathers would be a dream-come true for us both. We hope that you will consider us to provide love and support for your child, but we also want you to know that we have nothing but well-wishes and admiration for you no matter what path you decide to take.
