“For us, becoming parents together is about sharing the unconditional/selfless love we have for each other, with our sweet baby whenever/wherever he or she is...”

We are Allison & Chuck Miller.

We have been enjoying married life for the last six and a half years and are hoping to grow our family through adoption. We have worked really hard to be ready to be parents and are so excited to create our family and share the immense love we fill our home with. We can't begin to understand how you must be feeling as you navigate this time in your life. Our promise to you, is to build a relationship built on trust and respect.
